

NOT MORE WORKING REMOTELY IN MOSCOW REQUIRED

IMPROVEMENT OF COVID-19 SITUATION IN MOSCOW AND NEW RULES

Important news for all Russian businesses: on January 27, 2021 Moscow Mayor Sergey Sobyanin issued the Decree cancelling the binding requirement that minimum 30% of employees shall work remotely. This requirement was first introduced in October 2020 to fight the pandemic of COVID-19, as the number of infections was rising. So this Decree cancels the regular reporting on the employees working from office and from home and they are free to establish their own rules of going to office by themselves.

Restaurants, cafes and night clubs are now allowed to work all 24 hours, however, sanitary requirements are in place.

Would like to establish internal rules for workers? Interested in our labour law consulting? Get in touch with us!

Contact us!

Authors:

Viktor Malyshev/ General Counsel and Senior Jurist

Philipp Rowe/ Managing Director

Rufil Russia Consulting, Moscow, Russia